

合作合租 HomeShop Workshare Space

HomeShop's nearly 300 m² space at Beixinqiao offers new possibilities for working together. We are primarily a project space and studio practice involving artists, designers, writers, and other freelancers, who periodically experiment together with the forms and manifestations which such work can take. The nature of 'work' itself is worth considering at a time when our own practices make it very difficult to cleanly divide between work and leisure, design and art or the professional and amateur—ambiguities that have changed how people are working and living today. In recent years workshare spaces have begun to crop up all over the world as a response to networked, precarious forms of production.

Co-working allows for independent individuals to come together in a productive environment that fosters collaboration as well as the sharing of knowledge and resources. HomeShop's workspace has since 2010 been shared by: a journalist, an illustrator, the neighbour's daughter, a philosopher, a filmmaker, translators, NGOs and others.

HomeShop's workshare space has places available for you. You can start at any point in the month, join for long or short-term depending upon your needs and be entitled to a pool of resources and benefits. See below for details:
